Title: Preserving Nature's Symphony through Biodiversity and Environmental Awareness Programmes.

Practice: The context: The institution recognizes the critical importance of biodiversity and the urgent need to address biodiversity loss. Understanding the grave threat, it poses to the delicate balance of ecosystems and the well-being of all living organisms, the institution has wholeheartedly embraced Sustainable Development Goal 15 as a guiding principle in its endeavors. With a deep sense of responsibility, the institution actively engages in a range of practices and initiatives, firmly committed to the preservation of biodiversity and the promotion of environmental awareness.

Through various initiatives, we take pride in our contributions towards halting biodiversity loss, promoting environmental awareness, and striving for a sustainable future. Each step we take from Wildlife Week celebrations, vehicle-free campus, sapling plantations, and field visits to observe medicinal plants, plays a part in creating positive impact. By actively engaging in these practices, we are making a difference, however small, in preserving biodiversity and fostering a greener and more sustainable world.

The initiatives and activities include.
